A grim tragedy that claimed two lives in the mute fastnesses of the Chatsworth Mountains, thirty miles northeast of Los Angeles, was disclosed yesterday when the ashes and a few bones of two bodies were found in the ruins of a cabin in which W. C. Dayton and his wife had lived for nearly forty years.

CLARA BARTON HONORED

Los Angeles Man Chief Speaker at Planting of Memorial Oak, Near Washington

WASHINGTON, April 16.—Before a throng of notables from official Washington, a slender young oak tree was planted today at Glen Echo, eight miles from the capital, across the Maryland line, to commemorate the tenth anniversary of the passing of Clara Barton, founder of the American Red Cross. It will be a national shrine to her memory.

The transplanting of the tree was under the direction of the American Red Cross Association, while representatives of city, state and national civil organizations attended.

ANGELENO CHIEF SPEAKER

The principal address of the day was made by C. S. Young of Los Angeles, a close personal friend of Clara Barton and to whom, in her last hours, she confided her official and personal letters and papers with the request that he use them in preparing her biography. This book is now complete, after several years work on the part of Mr. Young, and is now to be issued by the publishers.

“In no other atmosphere of her native land,” said Mr. Young, “is there a place more appropriate to plant this tree to the memory of Clara Barton. It was to this place that she came to die. Let me us—” from Cuba, where cruelty, pestilence and starvation were the portions of thousands; from storm-tossed Galveston, where still children had been sacrificed to the relentless sea. In every instance there was a response: “The Angel of Mercy sped forth to minister with her own hands to suffering humanity.”

“It was here that she basked in the sunset rays as they dipped redly toward the West. When she was the trees she planted with her own hands; yonder humanity’s center from which flowed charities to every part of the known world; yonder the chamber from whose windows she looked out upon the East. Here, in 1912, her spirit fled to the Great Unknown.”

BLUE COLOR, BUT PARADE IS NOT BLUE

NEW YORK, April 16.—Mahan’s famous Easter parade was set in step today by a martial symphony of blue. The parade was in the color melody that brilliantly filled old Fifth avenue from Central Park down to the shadow of the Washington arch.

In color, the Easter parade was a veritable crescendo, with the gleaming soft Periwinkle blue everywhere in dominance. There was no group without it; its choice was confined to no one age or class or even complexion. Occasional creations of one or the other of the more somber hues were invariably lighted by the hat, the bodice or the skirt—with a touch of the shade that seemingly claims military’s monitory sole allegiance.

PERFECT EASTER DAY

The parade was in progress most of the day, but it did not really start, of course, until the churches opened their doors. A kindly Providence did its bit in providing a day of blue and white, clear, cheery, bright, happy. The parade, the dress, the grass and the rare space given to growing flowers were in the spirit of the occasion, seemingly providing with Fifth avenue’s conglomerate blocks of color, a new and striking background for the year’s most festive day.

Many were the parade’s rappers as well as their older “sisters” who have been waiting for the parade’s return. The church entrances as backgrounds to their brilliancy, lingering in the sunlit doorway for just the proper time on coming out to register an effect, before they joined the gay cavalcade.

STRIKING COSTUMES

There were many striking costumes and colors under the overlordship of the periwinkle blue. Long, straight, simple lines of the lined with lipstick red, or surmounted by hats of rough hewn wood, new red or vibrant dill gold or emerald green, new shades. Fully a third of the parade, it seemed, were capped.

BEADS IN EVIDENCE

Beads were very much in evidence. All manners of beads were relieved in beads, many of them in rather fantastic array. The tall, conical, the long, the round, the almost severely plain, with long lines suggesting dignity but avoiding any hint of austere, beaded gowns of satin and crepe, in pearl gray, champagne, brown taupe or fawn were striking features of the parade. No one authority had dictated the length of the skirts. They were of all degrees of length—or brevity. Any deficiency in the length was made up by flashes of silken hose, in which champagne, pearl gray, black and periwinkle blue predominated.

No central authority dictated the length of the skirts. They were of all degrees of length—or brevity. Any deficiency in the length was made up by flashes of silken hose, in which champagne, pearl gray, black and periwinkle blue predominated.

DRY LEAGUE IS ACCUSED

Violation of Corrupt Practices Act Is Charged by Massachusetts Representative

WASHINGTON, April 16.—Representative Tinkham, Republican Massachusetts, said in a statement today that charges recently made by him in the House that the Anti-Saloon League of America had failed to comply with the corrupt practices act “were before the Department of Justice and will be acted upon in due season.”

“The cases against the league,” he added, “are complete with the evidence, necessary for indictment and conviction when presented to a grand jury and Federal criminal court.”

Retracting his charge that the league had failed to report “all contributions under the statement filed under protest by Wayne B. Wheeler in 1916,” Mr. Tinkham’s statement said.

The Anti-Saloon League of America, who do not deny one of the charges but last Friday issued a characteristic propaganda statement in relation to prohibition.

LOSES GRIP ON PLANE AND DIES

SACRAMENTO, April 16.—Harry Johnson, aged 31, a former Mather Field flying cadet, fell from an airplane near Mather Field here today and was instantly killed within sight of thousands of spectators watching the Seattle-Sacramento baseball game. He fell 150 feet into a plowed field and suffered a broken neck, fractured leg and internal injuries.

JOHNSON WAS HANGING TO A WING

Johnson was hanging to a wing of the airplane and it is believed he was seized with cramps. He fell like a plummet within plain view of the grand stand at the baseball park.

FRED KELLY, FORMER MAJOR IN THE AVIATION SERVICE

Kelly attempted to maneuver to the ground in order to give Johnson an opportunity to drop in safety, but the cramps, with which Johnson had on previous other occasions been seized, became so acute as to force Johnson to lose his hold and fall.

Kelly and Johnson were practicing stunts for a local aviation contest when the accident occurred.

JOHNSON WAS A WELL-KNOWN FLYER

Johnson was a member of the local patrol in Oregon and had a total of 800 flying hours to his credit without an accident.

FOUR GIRLS EMULATING DAN O’LEARY

Feminine Hikers Walking from Galveston to New York to Win Wager

CHICAGO, April 16.—Four feminine pedestrians who are trying to keep up their end of a wager that they could hike from Galveston, Tex., to New York City in six months have arrived in Chicago. They are all students of the State University of Louisiana at Baton Rouge.

E. A. Keyes, a Galveston philanthropist, offered the girls $500 if they could walk to New York by August 4, and another similar amount if they could return to Galveston by January 1.

The wager was no sooner made than the girls were en route. Their peregrinations thus far have been uneventful, and they are expected to reach New York by August 4.

The girls are Christine Martin, Pearl Fellman, Francis Hatfield and Ruby Harris. Miss Betty Howard escorts the party in a driver as official duenna.

WANTS NO BREAK

Policy May Develop at Genoa Government Circles

That is the chief goal of the ambitious British statesman, but he hopes also to induce the nations to agree to take a ten-year holiday from far aggressive action is concerned. The British won’t call it disarmament, limitation of armaments or even a truce, but if the scheme is accepted in good faith it will be tantamount to all these.

Lloyd George expects to return to London about the end of the month, while Poincaré is expected to come to Genoa in the next ten days. That means a solution.

KEY TO SITUATION

The key to the situation is indicated in an article by Philippe Millet, which will appear in L’Europe Nouvelle tomorrow. It is all very well,” he says, “to bar topics from the main stage at Genoa; but who can prevent their being discussed behind the scenes?”

In Millet’s opinion, both reparations and disarmament are certain to be so discussed. Why, then, he should not France take a more reasonable attitude instead of trying to swim against a stream?”

France can get a fair hearing if she talks common sense, and moreover, she keeps in close touch with her allies in Central Europe. On these two conditions neither the discussion of reparations nor of disarmament need cause her serious embarrassment.

That the worst way out would be to resort to the inefficient method of maintaining a veto.

IN EUROPE IS WINNING; PREMIER OF ENGLAND DOMINATES

BY ARTHUR L. DRAFTER (EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)

April 16.—Completion of the chief tasks before the League of Nations Conference within two weeks is now the expectation, according to reports that Premier Lloyd George, in his negotiations, expects to return to London tomorrow. Premier Poincaré of France probably will leave within ten days in order to see the British ambassador in Rome.

George Tchitcherine, chief of the Moscow delegation, who did most of the talking for the Russians at yesterday’s conference with the Allies, today had an extended visit conversation with Premier Lloyd George. He will not be called into conference with the Allies until he has had a report from the heads of the Bolshevik government and has been instructed how far to go in making a compromise with the Allies. The German wishes here hummed all day with the Russian messages to and from Moscow.

LLOYD GEORGE RULES

The results of yesterday’s conference seem to foreshadow at least a real possibility of peace in Europe. Only the Europeans realize what a tremendous advantage that would be for the whole world.

LONG ROAD FOR TARIFF BILL

Controversies Over Nearly Every Schedule

Prolonged Debate in Senate is in Prospect

Doubtful if Measure Can be Passed This Session

(REUTERS DISPATCH.)
WASHINGTON, April 13.—Proposed duties in nearly every schedule in the tariff bill are involved in the controversy which will be carried to the floor of the Senate. The comments by manufacturers and importers and members of Congress since the bill was reported from the Finance Committee to the Senate last Tuesday indicate that a prolonged debate is in prospect and that dozens of amendments will be pressed. Debate on the bill is scheduled to begin Thursday.

While the Republican Senate leaders insist that Congress will not adjourn without disposing of tariff legislation, they admit that the situation may become such as to make it difficult to avoid delaying final action until next winter. Senator Bone and the Army and Navy Appropriations bills threaten to delay speedy passage of the tariff measure.

SUMMARY OF SITUATION
A summary of the situation with respect to the various schedules in the tariff bill shows:

Schedule 1, chemicals, oils and paints.—Extension of the present embargo and license control of imports of dyes for one year, together with authority to the President to extend it for one additional year if not entirely pleasing either to importers, who oppose an embargo, or to the manufacturers, who urged the need of a three or five-year embargo.

Schedule 2, earthenware and glassware.—Magnesian producers are hopeful of a higher rate of duty on their product than was approved by the Finance Committee, which was influenced by the plea of the steel industry for lower duties on its raw materials.

Schedule 3, metals and manufactures of paper and pulp.—The Finance Committee will seek to have the Senate approve the duty proposed by the House.

Despite the fact that the cotton industry in California is a relatively new one, it has already made a mark in the history of the state. It is the only industry in the Pacific Southwest which has already made a mark in the history of the state.

Approximately 12,000,000 acres of land in the Pacific Southwest are now under cultivation. The cotton industry in this territory has already made a mark in the history of the state.

That this industry in this territory is hardly ten years old is evidenced by the fact that in 1915 California produced only 10,000 bales of cotton and Arizona only 10,000 bales. The extent of its growth is illustrated by the fact that in 1934 California, including the Imperial Valley in Mexico, produced 1,000,000 bales of cotton, and Arizona produced 1,000,000 bales of cotton, making the total for this district amount to 2,000,000 bales of cotton, representing a value of about $25,000,000. The Imperial Valley is at present the largest cotton producing district in the world.

Bygone of climatic conditions, both California and Arizona are among the first three states in the Union in their per acre cotton production. Why?

To the insuring public

This advertisement is published in the public interest by the Pacific Coast Automobile Underwriters Conference (Membership composed of 89 leading insurance companies)

AUTOMOBILE Fire and Theft Insurance is written on what is called a non-valued policy. If an insured car is stolen or burned the loss is paid on the basis of:

"the actual cash value of the property at the time of loss . . . with proper deduction for depreciation however caused . . . which (value) shall in no event exceed what it would then (at the time of loss), cost to repair or replace the property . . ."

The amount of insurance stated in the policy is the maximum sum for which the company is liable in event of total loss and is also the amount upon which the premium is computed. If the amount of insurance is greater than the cash value of the automobile the policy holder is paying for more insurance than he can collect in event of loss.

All automobile values have been reduced, directly or indirectly, by manufacturers' price cuts and by the overstock in the used car market in recent months. A condition has been created under which many automobiles which were not insured for more than they were worth when the policies covering them were written, are today over-insured.

It is recommended that persons carrying automobile fire and theft insurance consult their brokers or apply to the agents of their companies for reduction of their policies and for return of the difference in premium if over-insured.

OPPOSITION TO BOND ISSUES

Long Beach Voters Called Upon for Vast Sum

Harbor Project Would Cost City $2,000,000

Keen Interest to Cause Heavy Vote to be Cast

LONG BEACH, April 16.—The voters of Long Beach will be asked to shoulder the burden of approximately $2,000,000, a sum equal to one-fifth of the assessed value of city property, for various public improvements.

This question, which has been debated pro and con for the last several weeks, featuring arguments resulting in street fights, meetings that broke up in riotous mobs, and a variety of charges of a serious nature, will be decided at the polls Tuesday.

Because of the divided opinion and widespread interest a heavy vote is anticipated. The chief argument has been the battle waged by the Chamber of Commerce in behalf of the bonds, especially those designed to establish a harbor.

The Chamber of Commerce, which has used several full-page advertisements in the local newspapers, has been charged with spending thousands of dollars in publicity to advocate the purchase of certain harbor lands owned by the Los Angeles Dock and Terminal Company. Officers of the chamber say the bonds will carry by a five-to-one majority.

On the other hand, the officials of the "Anti-Gold Brick Association," opposed to the issue, constantly predict that the securities will be turned down decisively. It requires a two-thirds majority to carry the bonds.

Opposition to the harbor bonds has increased during the last few days to such an extent that many enthusiastic supporters of that issue concede their defeat, and some express the doubt that they will get a majority, much less the necessary two-thirds to carry them.

There are ten propositions on the ballot, embracing the following: Acquisition of lands for parks and playgrounds, $100,000; acquiring a site for and the construction of a municipal hospital, $100,000; comfort stations, $50,000; sewage disposal plant, $100,000; incinerator, $150,000; fire station, $150,000; dredging and enlarging harbor, $500,000; acquisition of certain additional harbor lands owned by the Los Angeles Dock and Terminal Company, $2,000,000.

The ten propositions total $4,850,000, and if all passed would increase the present tax rate of $1.40 to within a cent of two of $2. It is officially announced. More than half the sum total is made up of harbor issues.

Reasons advanced by the "bonding committee" of the organization opposed to the bonds why the harbor bonds are doomed to defeat appeared in a pamphlet distributed throughout the city entitled "A Brief Analysis of an Individual Scheme to 'Gold Brick' Our City."

The opposition has based its argument upon the asserted fact that passage of the bond issue would result to the benefit of private interests who have a large tract of land to sell to the city.

It is said that the Chamber of Commerce has entered into the fight so as to be of service to its wealthy members. Many of the city's rich have been advanced and a strong feeling prevails.

On most of the other issues added to the harbor bonds, there is a general feeling that they should be carried, but it is said by close observers that the sentiment is so strong and the feeling has run so high concerning the harbor issue that it is probable that all of the proposed issues will be defeated.

Due to the heavy vote anticipated, it will be well past midnight before returns of the balloting will have been completed.

The association's annual election there was little change in the directors and their surplus production. Pumping by electric power was reduced by 10 per cent.

British Prince in Danger at Fire in Tokio

BY CABLE—REUTERS DISPATCH

TOKIO, April 16.—While the Prince of Wales and his whole suite was attending an imperial cherry blossom party, the Imperial Hotel, where the majority of the suite lodged, was completely destroyed by fire. On account of the Prince of Wales stopping there, the hotel was filled with 800 foreign guests, who lost practically everything.

ACTION ON SUBSIDY BILL IS IMPERILED

CONSIDERATION OF TARIFF IS VIEWED AS DANGER TO MEASURE

WASHINGTON, April 16.—With the ship subsidy bill hanging before the Senate Commerce Committee and the House Committee on Merchant Marine and Fisheries in the third week, indications point to their conclusion by May 1, if not earlier.

The National Merchant Marine Association announced tonight a long list of representatives of commercial organizations in all parts of the country who will appear before the committee in support of the legislation.

Following their appearance marine labor leaders and the representatives of the American Federation of Labor will be heard in opposition to the bill, although some of the marine labor unions will support it.

Consideration of the tariff and other related matters confronting the Senate may create a legislative situation that will imperil favorable action on the subsidy bill at this session.

"Any man who thinks that the people of the interior are not interested in shipping is profoundly mistaken," declared the National Merchant Marine Association, in its return today to Washington from the Middle West States and the Pacific Coast.

"Everywhere I went I found the manufacturer, the farmer and the commission man keenly studious of shipping and its surplus production. The plain truth is that a plain way was all that was needed to convince them that the American Merchant Marine was a vital link in the export system."

The bureau has been advised that there were thousands of veterans throughout the United States who were unaware of the benefits to which they were entitled.

Information as to the procedure of obtaining relief.

Thousands of these cases would never have been brought to the attention of the government had it not been for these clean-up squads.

HAWAIIANS NEED TRADE WITH CITY

Steamship Agents Say
250,000 Islanders Want
Southland's Products

"There are 250,000 people in the Hawaiian Islands willing and anxious to have us supply the majority of their needs," says Owen Williams, manager of the steamship line of the R. F. Dillingham Company, Limited, of Honolulu. Mr. Williams is here in the interest of his company, which has been appointed Hawaiian agent for the new direct Los Angeles to Honolulu steamship service which will be inaugurated this summer by the Los Angeles Steamship Company. He is meeting local manufacturers and merchants with a view to explaining to them business conditions in the islands and commodities needed there which can be most satisfactorily supplied from the mainland.

"Practically everything we want and use, as well as a great deal of what we eat, comes from the mainland," said Mr. Williams. "We are in a position similar to that of the British Isles, with only a few days' supplies on hand, so we are dependent upon steamship lines to supply our needs. From agricultural, steel, cement and lumber, foodstuffs, practically everything we need must come from the mainland. We have substantially no industries, but we have a big business in sugar, pineapples and bananas to offer to the markets of the mainland.

"While our people grow many varieties of delicious fruits for their own consumption, we produce something like ninety varieties of bananas. The popular variety with us, however, is known as the Chinese banana, slightly smaller than those which you get here from South America, but of a finer flavor. I understand that this banana is not known in Southern California, but once introduced here by ships sailing directly from the islands, it will prove more popular than any other variety.

"Capt. Evans, son of the late Rear Admiral Robley D. Evans, is to be the new commandant of the new Loma Portal Naval Training Station near San Diego when the station is inaugurated this month, according to word that reached Pacific Fleet headquarters yesterday. Capt. Evans has held various positions of command in the navy, and was in command of the battleship USS Oregon at San Diego, being relieved of that duty to take command of the new station at Loma Portal, N. J. He was in command only a short time there when the station was closed as a result of the fatal accident to the USS Oregon in England.

Message Sent Out by Navy Leads to Finding of Two Adrift in Boat

Two men in an open boat, helplessly adrift about fifteen miles from Point Conception, were rescued yesterday afternoon by the steamer Humboldt by means of a radio message sent by the Navy broadcasting station at Los Angeles Harbor.

Shortly afterward the Humboldt reported she had picked up the men, whose names were Pacific B. Marcus and Jesus E. Epata. They had started on a fishing expedition and had ventured too far out. They will be brought to Los Angeles Harbor today on the Humboldt.

DAWN'S JOY SUNG FROM HILLS TO OCEAN

Thousand, Seated in Cross, at Service in Hollywood's Bowl

The foothills and reverberating from the prairies of unnumbered thousands yesterday broke the silence of the dawn and were wafted upward in song.

Nearly all the churches in Los Angeles and vicinity were crowded to capacity yesterday, many of them conducting two separate services at both morning and evening worship, while others held service meetings.

AT HOLLYWOOD BOWL. Perhaps the most remarkable feature of the service was the fact that all the shallow wisdom of mortal men stand impotent before such demonstrations of faith and affection as were offered from a hundred hills throughout Southern California yesterday.

At the Hollywood Bowl, the service was held in the open air, with the hills of Hollywood and the ocean in the background. The service was conducted by Dr. Elmer E. Helms, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal Church, who addressed the congregation for about 30 minutes. ALIKE IN LIFE AND DIE ALIKE

Chums Killed in Crash With Auto; Both Lose Their Left Legs

Alberto Marcello of Palms and Isacio Andreoli, two young Italian-Americans, were chums and of a remarkable similarity in appearance.

The manner of their deaths, as learned yesterday, is no less remarkable for similarity. In all it caused a false identification that was corrected by chance and in a dramatic manner.

Marcello and Andreoli late Saturday night were riding a motorcycle, tandem, on Wilshire Boulevard, when they were struck by a car. Both lost their left legs.

The body was identified as that of Marcello and his parents in Palms were notified that their son Alberto had been killed in an accident, suffering the amputation of the left leg, and that the body was being held in Los Angeles. So the parents started for town yesterday morning, but on the way stopped at the scene of the accident, and there behind a bush they found the body of their son. The left leg was amputated as the police had informed them.

It was disclosed later that the lad that died on the way to the hospital was Isacio Andreoli and that each had lost a left leg and each had injuries in common. The similarity of the youths, in size and facial appearance had caused the false identification. The bodies are being held at the mortuary of J. W. McKellar, 1123 South Flower street, and arrangements are being made for a joint funeral.

LOCAL DEALERS GET CONTRACTS

Huge Electrical Program by City Outlined

Nearly Half-Million to be Spent on System

Change Necessary in Taking Over Edison Plant

Preparatory to setting under way a huge program of improvement and extension of the electrical distribution system in Los Angeles, coincident with the taking over by the Municipal Bureau of Power and Light of the Southern California Edison Company distributing plant in the city, the Board of Public Service Commissioners has closed a number of large contracts for equipment that in the aggregate call for an expenditure of approximately $4,700,000.

One of the notable features in the board's action is that a large percentage of the purchases have been made from Los Angeles or Southern California manufacturers. The board has explained that an effort is invariably made by the board to favor local dealers and manufacturers whenever it is possible to do so.

Commissioner A. G. Bartlett, chairman of the board's supply committee, said: "I believe that in every instance, where it is possible to do so, preference should be given by the board to Los Angeles manufacturers and dealers when the Public Service Department is in the market for supplies or equipment of any sort."

Much of the equipment that the board recently ordered purchased will be used by Chief Electrical Engineer Scatena in merging the Edison distributing system with the present municipal system. In view of the fact that the Edison system is already in shape to handle a higher electrical voltage than much of the Edison system, it will be necessary to replace the lower voltage transformers of the Edison system with those that will compare with the equipment now in use by the city.

In addition to the various contracts aggregating $4,700,000 that have already been awarded by the board, other large purchases of supplies and equipment are now being considered. This equipment will be used in extending service to all of the consumers in the municipal system after the Edison plant has been taken over and in improving the entire system generally.

Those equipment contracts which went to make up the total of $4,700,000 are as follows: One thousand poles, $14,000; a year's contract for poles at the rate of $50 per month, expected to amount to about $2,000. Both pole contracts were awarded to a local firm, One million pounds of copper wire, $200,000. A considerable portion of this order was awarded to the California Wire Company, which will handle 45,000 home-powder of electrical equipment, $80,000. Oil switches, $24,000. Of the total order here $36,000 went to the Kelman Electric and Manufacturing Company, a local firm. Switchboard instruments, $6000.

NEW IRRIGATION SYSTEM CELEBRATED AT YUMA

Two Governors Attend Fete as Water is Turned on 60,000-Acre Frostless Mesa

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.) YUMA (Ariz.) April 16.—While giant pumps pulsed and throbbed and sands parched by centuries of Arizona suns drank greedily, Gov. Campbell of Arizona and Gov. Lugo of Baja California, here with various other Federal, State and municipal officers to aid in the opening of the first unit of Yuma's frostless Mesa, clasped hands and pledged anew the friendship that has long existed between these two sections of the Southwest.

Federal and State officials, delegates from various chambers of commerce and municipal authorities of the entire Southwest gathered in Yuma today to aid Yuma people in celebrating the completion of a long effort to put water on their celebrated mesa.

Gov. Campbell, accompanied by Mrs. Campbell and members of his staff, arrived from Phoenix this morning. Adj. Gen. Walter Ingalls and State Engineer Madocci had arrived earlier Saturday's feature was the arrival from Mexico of Gov. Lugo, with members of his staff and various other Mexican dignitaries. Gov. Lugo had ordered his famous military band to this city for the occasion and for two days Yuma has echoed to martial airs and orchestral offerings as rendered by this celebrated organization.

Invitations had been extended to U. S. Senators Ashurst and Cameron but telegrams were received from them Saturday in which they declared that pressure of official business detained that in Washington.

Secretary of the Interior Fall also was unable to leave Washington, but at today's speechmaking a message was read from him in which he offered his congratulations to the people of Yuma for the success of their project.

Grandchild of Governor is Hurt in Crash

Catapaulted into the air and flung to the pavement when an automobile belonging to Gov. Stephens collided with another machine yesterday afternoon at Tenth and Union avenues, little Marjorie Zane, grand-daughter of the Governor, had one of her front teeth knocked out.

When the crash occurred little Marjorie was out riding with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. John N. Osborn, of 736 South Wilton Place. Mrs. Osborn only suffered nervous shock, but the little girl was thrown 10 feet, according to reports.

Mrs. Osborn had left Gov. Stephens to address a meeting of the Knights Templar, and was on the way home when the accident occurred. The man driving the other machine gave the card of Guy L. Rockwell, attorney, according to an investigation by Detective Sergeant Beaumont and Tarrow.

Times RADIO DEPARTMENT

LESSON NO. 18

By G. C. Farmer

Next in importance to the apparatus proper in wireless receiving is the storage battery. It is necessary to have at least one of these accumulators in nearly all but the simplest type of receiver for the purpose of heating the audion filament. While it is generally conceded the Edison alkaline storage cell is far superior to the lead-plate type, the latter is more commonly used, and so this short treatise will deal with the lead battery exclusively.

In radio receiving circuits, unlike in automobile lighting systems, there is no way of automatically recharging. A battery may easily become completely discharged and ruined for lack of proper attention. Consequently it is necessary to keep a constant watch to see that an accident of this kind does not take place.

The average buyer of a storage battery is cautioned to take advantage occasionally of the services of a specialist. While this is good advice, it is not absolutely necessary to do this in order to get the greatest amount of satisfaction. There are a few good solid rules to follow to keep and prolong the life of your battery.

As battery dealers say, "Give your accumulator plenty of 'wa-lar.' Each time before charging 'lar' the cells up to one-half inch above the plates with distilled water only. In a six-volt battery there are three cells. Never allow any one of them to become dry. Keep corroded metals or other foreign matter out of cells. See that the case is dry and that the acid-proof paint on it is in good shape. Also, take precautions that the lead terminals are clean and covered with hard grease or vaseline. Never allow the battery to stand discharged for any length of time, for this kind of treatment will cause the positive plates to become badly sulphated. Never, under any circumstances, drop or jar a storage battery. Do not permit lighted matches or naked flames of any kind near the vent-caps when charging, especially. The gas given off is inflammable. See that vent-caps are loose (not off) when charging. Do not overcharge. That is, do not continue to charge after the specific gravity has reached a normal stationary point (usually about 1.280 as measured by a hydrometer).

When charge is given, care should be taken that the charging rate never be allowed to exceed the ampere hours put off the battery, as indicated by an amper-hour meter, nor the temperature of the acid solution, exceed 110 degrees Fahrenheit. There are vibrator charging devices on the market which automatically give a taper charge from the alternating current lighting mains, beginning at a high rate when the battery is empty and gradually changing to a low rate of charge as it fills. It is recommended that this style of charging apparatus be used, as it saves worry. Radio clubs can probably purchase instruments of this kind for use of their members.

RUNNED BATTERIES

For lead plate storage batteries to be life is to become ruined. Lying unused, a lead sulphate will form on the plates paralyzing chemical action. A good plan is to administer a charge about once every two weeks for six or eight hours, being careful not to allow the electrolyte to get warmer than 110 degrees F. Charge until specific gravity readings become fixed at 1.280 degrees. This will keep your battery in a healthy condition. In general, a battery may be charged at any time when it is partly empty.

After some months of use, a short-circuit may occur in one or more of the cells. They will not take a charge. This may be due to sediment collecting on the bottom of the jars and shorting electrically the positive and negative plates. To remedy this trouble is the work of an expert. The battery must be disassembled, its plates removed, the mud or sediment washed out, and new electrolyte substituted. Any auto-electric shop will attend to this.

With good care, a lead-plate storage battery will last from two to five years. With poor attention it may not wear for twelve months. It is nearly always up to the individual owner whether or not a storage battery will give out before its time. Tomorrow will begin a series of lessons on transmitting apparatus.

Yale Passengers "Listen in" on The Times Easter Program While Coming from North

Two hundred passengers on the steamer Yale, en route from San Francisco to Los Angeles, yesterday attended Easter services through the medium of The Times radio broadcasting station, and reported upon their arrival here that they heard with utmost distinctness the sermon by Dr. Elmer Ellsworth Holmes and the musical program.

The first signals were picked up as the vessel was about five miles north of Point Vincent, according to L. J. Coughlin, purser of the Yale.

The receiving apparatus with its powerful amplifier was tuned in for the passengers in the observation salon of the ship. Officials of the Los Angeles Steamship Company add yesterday they believe the radio apparatus installed on the Yale and Harvard provides the most popular amusement thus far devised for ocean travelers.

EASTER SERMON IS BROADCAST

The Master came, clean forefoot, only to stagger cross-lyden, thorn-crowned on the slopes of the highest garden in the world—not on the top of the Rockies or the Andes, but on Calvary with its crosses three, where Christ tasted death for every man, bearing in his body all the thorny agony of that lost Eden.

"And in the place where He was crucified there was a garden and in the garden a new tomb wherein never was man laid, and therein they laid Him." But not for long. A short three days, then behold Mary, sad, weeping, amid the flowers of that garden, weeping for the life of her son.

because she thought she had lost her Lord, and seeing one, that she knew Him not, but supposed He was the gardener. He was, thank God, He was the gardener. The gardener of that first Eden garden. The gardener of that lost Eden garden. And that divine gardener looking into her soul, said, with all the mellow music of His soul, 'Mary.' And lo, her great grief was turned into a garden of joy.

"To all listening in on far-off desert, mountain height, tossing ship on tossing sea, Easter greeting. At sunrise this morning the psalms of Russia poured into the streets by the thousands, and meeting each other greeted each other with, 'Christ is risen today, all hail.' To you, scattered afar, I bring you that Easter greeting and wish for you this Easter day—for I could not wish better—that life for you may be a garden."

THOUSANDS GREET DAWN

Great Paean of Praises Rises From Many Throats at Easter Observances

gathering in the Southland yesterday morning, from the standpoint of attendance, was that at the Hollywood Bowl, the beautiful amphitheater just off Cahuenga avenue, where more than 25,000 persons assembled long before sun-up. Fast throngs came on the street and on foot, many others coming in automobiles, thousands of which were parked in the great bowl and along the curbing of the avenues leading to the mouth of the amphitheater.

The manner in which the crowd was placed would have delighted the eye of an artist, for more than 25,000 people were seated to form a great human cross, with the central piece extending from the southern slopes down past the music pavilion in the center. The arms of the cross were represented by the people on the east and west. On the north slope stood 200 members of the Hollywood Children's Chorus, clad all in white, whose rendition of "Christ the Lord Is Risen" under the direction of Victor Kiroshofer, was one of the features of the program.

As the first beams of the sun kissed the white cross on the western mount of the bowl, the Philharmonic orchestra, under the direction of Walter Henry Rothwell, burst forth into glad harmony, rendering a selection of strains from "Paradise."

"Help us, oh Master, to live the resurrected life here and now," was the plea of Dr. James H. H. Lash, whose invocation was followed by the repetition of the Lord's Prayer by the multitude. Following scriptural reading by Dr. Stewart E. McLennan, the orchestra led the audience in singing "Holy, Holy, Holy," and then rendered a Wagnerian selection from "Parsifal."

No feature of the program was evidently more enjoyed than the singing of "The Messiah" by the Florence Middle School, whose song by the audience was "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name," and the benediction was pronounced by Dr. Samuel J. Skovington.

Mrs. J. J. Carter, Harry Ellis Reed, L. E. Hefner, Russ Kiroshofer, W. A. Clark, Jr., and many others who were long and ardently to make the services a success, met with shining eyes and glad hands, and many were seen in the morning and there were tears of joy in their eyes as they parted at the close of the service.

DR. MARTIN SPEAKS
The speaker for the occasion was Dr. Willis Martin, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal Church of Hollywood, who spoke on "The Road of the Morning." In part, Dr. Martin said:

"The Road of the Morning is always the Road of the Morning. The way may be difficult and the beginning may be in weakness, but if one undertakes a ministry of love and kindness, he will find the path of the morning into the warmth and radiance of day."

WHERE FATHER SERRA ERECTED HIS CROSS

Ventura county gathered at an Easter service yesterday on the site where Father Serra erected the cross that later marked the location of the famous mission. Hundreds of worshippers came from the countryside and participated in a program of song and prayer. Mrs. C. G. Hurlbert, as president of the E.C.O. Club, headed a committee of arrangements which carried on the service. A most successful program, including vocal and instrumental numbers, an invocation, sermon and benediction.

MASQUERADE REPRODUCES FIRST EASTER HERE

Before the blizzard green boughs of the San Gabriel Valley the shimmered in the early morning sun, the worship of today blended with the romantic devotion of the past at the Easter services on the Huntington lawn, in Pasadena. Unique in its portrayal, the Easter Masque written by John S. McGraw, author of the Mission Play, and presented by the player from the Mission Playhouse, filled the thousands who watched with a religious emotion born anew. The prayers and hymns of today passed, and the first Easter worship, held in the valley in 1770, when a number of Indians were converted by the Franciscan fathers was reproduced.

The pageant service was the first of its kind ever given there. It was opened by a blast of trumpets followed by an invocation delivered by Rev. John Murdoch of the Neighborhood Church in Pasadena. Then the 2000 who were gathered on the lawn before the central stage in singing "Rock of Ages," led by C. M. Pyke, musical director of the Mission Play. This was followed by the reading by Rev. Murdoch from the gospel of St. Luke, the story of the resurrection. Then came the ensemble song, "Onward Christian Soldiers." From behind the trees and shrubs that surrounded the lawn came the low chanting of Easter hymns. Then a flag, that of old Spain, appeared. Slowly into the picture filed a group led by a young Indian boy carrying the banner of the church. Behind him was the principal player in the masquerade, William Ellingford, as a Franciscan father.

TWO SERVICES HELD IN THE BAY DISTRICT

Citizens of the day district attended two services celebrating Easter, both held on the Palmdale at Santa Monica. At sunrise, as a series of bugles gave welcome to the coming day, more than 100 persons gathered at Peace Temple Hill, north of Santa Monica Canyon, on the Pacific Palisades, and became part of a most wonderful and inspiring service. The setting could hardly be equaled at any other spot in the country, with the great ocean in the foreground and the mountain ranges framing and surrounding the scene. At the first ray of dawn a choir of 150 voices, composed of selections from the First Methodist Church as Pasadena, under the direction of Robert E. Clark, combined choir of the Santa Monica churches, led by Mrs. Fred J. Korman, and members of the choir of the Wilshire Methodist Church, sang an opening anthem. Then the sun ascended to a greater height, the congregation and choir sang "Welcome, Happy Day," William G. Garrett, leader of the Cardman Trio of Los Angeles, read Van Dyke's "God of the Open Air," and Rev. W. H. Cornett, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Santa Monica, delivered a short Easter sermon.

At sunset thousands of visitors to the bay district gathered at Inglewood, where the multitude, and Adelaide Drive, and devoted an hour to vespers services. Easter hymns led by Russ Kiroshofer of Hollywood, Rev. Sidney Madson officiated at the invocation, scripture selections were read by Rev. C. H. Sutherland and the benediction pronounced by Rev. W. H. Cornett.

A hillside at Boca Vista Park at Catalina was witness to an Easter service in which island residents and hundreds of visitors gathered at sunrise to bid welcome to Easter morn. The program, prepared under the direction of the Mary Williams Literary Club of Avalon, was the most elaborate and at the same time the most successful ever attempted by the people of Santa Catalina. The principal speaker of the occasion was Dr. Clyde Shepard of Pomona College and the leading musical attraction was Mrs. Ellen Beach Yaw. The Avalon Male quartet appeared in service and the choir, led by Rev. Earl Woods of the Congregational church of Avalon assisted in the services.

SPECIAL SERVICES IN HARBOR DISTRICT

The Woman's Club of San Pedro, assisted by officers of the Navy and musicians of the fleet, carried out a very impressive program. Residents of the harbor city were awakened by bugles from the Boy Scout Troop and found their way to beautiful Point Loma, where mountains and the sea set a perfect background for the day's services. Chaplains from the land and sea forces of the Army and Navy were assisted by pastors of local churches. A program of community singing, by Gage Christopher was a feature.

HUNDREDS GATHER ON MT. LOWE

At Mt. Lowe, where a cross a mile above Los Angeles blazed forth in welcoming splendor, several hundred persons who had gone to the mountain top the night before gathered for Easter services. A program more elaborate than heretofore attempted was carried to a successful conclusion.

REDONDO BEACH OBSERVES DAY

At Redondo Beach, where Easter services have been held for several years, a series of devotional services were arranged and religious observances were held in various celebrations of the day, extending from sunrise services in the morning to vespers late in the afternoon.

OTHER SERVICES IN SOUTHLAND

At Whittier, Burbank, Glendale, and many suburban cities early morning services were held so that it is a fair estimate to say that more than 100,000 persons in Southern California paid homage to the Risen Christ at services designed to honor the day he came forth supreme over his enemies, an ever living proof of his goodness and divinity.

WONDERFUL SERVICE AT MOUNT RUBIDOUX

Inland, Nature was in her best mood this Easter morn at Riverside, and a flock of cloud concealing the full-orbed moon as thousands made their way up the slopes of Mt. Rubidoux long before sunrise, nor a wraith of mist hovering about the eastern peaks when the sun rose abruptly from the sand wastes of the Colorado Desert.

Van Dyke's "God of the Open Air," one of the finest features of the annual sunrise service at the foot of the Serra cross, was never given a better rendering than that accorded it this morning by Frederick Ward, the veteran actor in the Mission Play. His reading of the lines, read publicly for the first time by the author, was on the mountain top several years ago, partook of the inspiration engendered by the environment and the glorious heralding of perfect day.

Marcella Craft, prima donna, who appears regularly as the soloist for the Rubidoux service, again filled the role and assisted the large chorus choir in the presentation of Gounod's "Love Apppear Over the Mountains," directed by Mrs. Cora A. Merry. The chorus, which witnessed this morning's service is estimated at 15,000, probably the greatest in the history of the unique pilgrimage, which was established in 1903 with the assistance of Jacob Rits. The motor-car count showed an increase of 15 per cent over last year. The 700 vehicles which passed through the control carried not to exceed one-fourth those who were assembled on the mountain. Ward's reading of the pilgrimage up the various trails which thread their way through piles of granite rock and dip here and there under the winding roadways.

The Deagan chimes were a new and effective feature of the year. At regular intervals, from midnight until dawn, the strains of the electrically operated set being heard for miles on all sides of the isolated mountain. At the close of the service, the chimes again took to the air, the strains of the chimes as they were heard from the slopes toward the illuminated cross.

WELCOME EASTER AT OWENSMOUTH

The Greek Theater at Owensmouth was the scene of an elaborate and beautiful service when thousands gathered at the spot to join in the celebration of the day. The program, arranged by Van Dyke's "God of the Open Air," was an electrically lighted cross on the summit of the great boulder surrounded the thousands to prayer and the echo of a bugle welcomed the coming of the morning sun.

music and song especially adapted to the occasion. The Davis Sisters, popular musical stars, played "The Holy City" as a brass quartet, and a chorus of eight girls in Grecian robes sang "Angels, Roll the Rock Away." Other vocal numbers were contributed by Charles Boers and Miss Sprutin.

EAGLE ROCK SERVICE

Shrine of THOUSANDS
Shrine services at Eagle Rock proved their popularity when thousands came by street car and automobile to mingle their voices in the songs of praise. An elaborate program arranged by the Woman's Twentieth Century Club included many beautiful musical numbers, a rendition of Van Dyke's "God of the Open Air," and an address by Dr. John Marvin Davis. An electrically lighted cross on the summit of the great boulder surrounded the thousands to prayer and the echo of a bugle welcomed the coming of the morning sun.

Services here, as in former years, were pronounced the most impressive of the many hours of worship arranged by many communities and attracted as many if not more than worshipped last year, when the congregation was estimated at 15,000.

MANY SERVICES NEAR SANTA ANA

Special musical programs in all churches, commencement of a tabernacle revival, a cantata at the Congregational Church, and sunrise services at Lemon Heights under auspices of the Orange County Christian Endeavor Union, featured Easter Sunday in Santa Ana and immediate vicinity. The sunrise program, beginning at 10:15, drew an unusually large attendance and was greatly enjoyed from the highest point of the foothill ridge overlooking many square miles of orange, lemon, avocado and walnut groves in the Tustin neighborhood. The sermon, "Why I Believe in the Resurrection," was by Rev. C. E. Russell, pastor of the First Baptist Church, with Rev. O. Kennedy of Santa Ana and Rev. Harry H. Hill of Orange also participating in the program.

Community singing was led by Miss Lena Catherine Shagness, who led by Julian Hefner, organist. St. H. H. Hefner, organist, and Mrs. Robert Hefner, vocal soloist, were assisted by Ernest Granger Phillips of Santa Ana.

THOUSANDS GATHER ON MOUNT HELIX

Several thousand persons attended the Easter sunrise service on Mount Helix, east of San Diego, yesterday morning. The congregation which joined in the service and mass singing was the largest yet recorded for this event. In the afternoon the community service conducted a program of the outdoor organ in Balboa Park. A feature of this annual event is the chorus singing of several hundred school children.

Southern California Prep Cinderpath Title to be up for Competition Next Saturday

ENTRY LIST IS COMPLETE

Thirty-Four Schools Will be Represented

Half-Mile Gallop Expected to Furnish Thrills

Rare Competition Features 440-Yard Run

BY CHARLES WIFE
Entries from thirty-four high schools have been received by Seth Van Patten of L. A. High for the annual Southern California prep track and field meet to be held at the Los Angeles Coliseum on Saturday, April 21. The meet is one of the most important of the season and is expected to furnish a rare competition for the state champions in each event being due for some hard work if they retain their titles.

FAST BUNCH
Ed Shaw of Monrovia, who surprised all with the quarter-mile run in the state meet last spring, will be pitted against Field Thompson of Van Nuys, capable of something around fifty-one seconds in this event. Coverly of Hollywood, who ran Thompson a close race in the state meet, will be expected to show some real speed.

The half-mile affair will find such men as Kerr of Huntington Beach, Thomas of Manual Arts, Nierbach and Mitchell of Poly, and Lloyd of Hollywood and Gonder of Van Nuys waiting for the gun. Kerr is the popular favorite, but he hasn't the race clinched by any means. A pulled tendon has kept him off the track for the past two weeks, and one week may be too short a time for him to get back into his old form.

REAL COMPETITION
Even at his best Kerr will have an awful time keeping ahead of Thomas and Nierbach, both of whom can cover the distance around 2:02, while the rest of the sixteen half-mile runners are determined to figure in the point-winning section of the parade.

An Boies failed to make his heat in the 220-yard hurdles for the city meet, he will not be eligible for this event, and the all-arounder, consequently, competition will be wild and woolly in the state meet.

At the state meet, Shaw of Monrovia, Towle of Manual Arts, and Funderburk and Nichols of Huntington Beach all having excellent chances for the blue ribbon.

SEAEVER LOSES CLOSE MATCH

lost the twelfth, and picked up on the road to the thirteenth. Von Elm's drive to the tenth was a screamer, but it wound up in the trees at the right and just short of the green. He tried to play through instead of over the live sedge and hit a tree. His third shot rolled into the same trap at the far side of the green, and it took him two to get out. He then conceded the hole to Seaver.

Seaver's work going to the eleventh was his best of the day. Using an iron he smashed out a dandy tee shot, and his long approach was the best of the day. Von Elm was further away in two, and he took three putts, here again missing a short one, Seaver winning the hole.

FIGURE WRONG
Both figured too strongly on the wind going to the twelfth hole, and their shots were just on the far edge of the green. Seaver approached too strongly down hill and his putt was too short. Von Elm's putt was too long, and he made the putt coming back. Von Elm sank his hole.

Seaver sliced his tee blow to the thirteenth, and was strangled by a tree. He banged into the tree on his second, and his long approach was the best of the day. Von Elm was further away in two, and he took three putts, here again missing a short one, Seaver winning the hole.

COPS MANY PRIZES
Von Elm won three cups and a gold medal for his efforts during the past week. The Spalding perpetual challenge cup, the S.C.A. cup, the medal round cup and the S.C.A. medal round cup. The "junk" which Von Elm packed in his suitcase prior to his return to Salt Lake last night.

The cup for the best net round at Flintridge was won by Walter Moore of Hollywood, the best net round at Pasadena brought H. S. Robbins a cup and W. D. Kraft of Santa Barbara brought home the bacon for the best net thirty-six hole.

The tournament was a big success in point of splendid management and keenly contested matches, and the field was representative of the best in California golf. Both Pasadena and Flintridge courses were in the best of shape for play. Manager Wills of Flintridge made all the folks at his course feel right at home, and the same was true at Pasadena. Hans Bagby, the indefatigable secretary, and Assistant Painter George during the tournament in making up the drawings and keeping everything checked right up to the minute.

SHOTGUN IS ONE-DAY A-WEEK CARD MANAGER
(BY A. P. NIGHT WEBER)
ST. LOUIS (Mo.), April 16.—Furt E. Shotton, a former out-fitter, is being successful as an one-day-a-week card manager of the St. Louis Cardinals.

Branch Rieky, manager of the Cardinals, does not direct his club on Sundays and does not attend the games. So Shotton for the past two seasons has been the Sunday manager.

The one-day-a-week pilot has a better percentage than Rieky for the last two years, having a winning percentage of .628, whereas Rieky's is only .511.

During two winter games and lost season, while Rieky's figure is .137 victories against .119 defeats.

members looked rather crumby, but these had been banded up to look as well as possible. But for the most part the eggs present were gorgeously colored up. There were fresh ranch eggs in from Rivera and other outlying points, and some cold storage eggs held over from last season. Among the prominent cold storage eggs present may be mentioned Charley McHugh, Joe Martin, Fred Stanton, Larry McGrath and Francis Patrick Shanley. Hard-boiled eggs present were too numerous to mention. There were a couple of hot eggs out in the clubhouse who scrambled each other after agreeing to disagree.

TRUCK SETS FAD
Mr. Truck Hannah had a beautiful wife hat worn on his face, and held in place with a chin strap. This is a good idea and should become a fad. Hats worn on the face would make all people free and frightful. Tom Daly wore a mask as usual, but it was a new one, and he was interviewed with blue ribbon, and he held it in place with a hat pin.

Spud Murphy cast aside the beefsteak which he usually wears in his mitt for padding, and held a cluster of violets in the palm of his hand. Red Baldwin disappeared with the usual chest protector and wore a shield of ivory made on his stomach. Mr. Mack What wore cala lilies "or ear muffs."

George Washington Pittcock claimed to be the oldest egg in the place, but not the rottenest. Trembly was still out in a twisted tendon, and McAuley succumbed temporarily to threatened flu. Lindmore taking charge of short.

Person seemed to have his early hopes for ink smudged by a bill, French slamming over the fence in the second with nobody on, and P. Raymond Schneider duplicating the trick under the same conditions one round later. The figures 8 to 2. The Angels would have won 5 to 4 in nine rounds but for a quaint decision by Umpire Carroll.

The seventh, when the going was knotted. High doubled, Schneider singled, and Hyatt busted an egg against the left field fence, making two in the fifth and seventh, making the figures 8 to 2. The Angels would have won 5 to 4 in nine rounds but for a quaint decision by Umpire Carroll.

Carroll started the tenth with a double of Love, advancing on Killifer's out. Deal drove Carroll home with a single, which with wallpops by Griggs, Lindmore and Baldwin and Sullivan's pass and stolen base, netted five. Lindmore's hit, which was a triple to the left field fence, was made while he had his head drawn down between his shoulders as though to escape from his own thoughts. He didn't see the ball that he hit but apparently was trying to get the same by ear. If not satisfied with your batting eye, simply close it and take a chance. Score: 5 to 4.

WEISSMULLER ECLIPSES ALL TANK MARVELS

This is the era of the super-phenomenon in athletics. Babe Ruth, Jack Dempsey and Man-O-War became renowned three years ago. At the same time Charlie Paddock was just beginning to distinguish himself in the Inter-Allied games in France. Bill Tilden came into his own in 1920. And now comes the fifth of the super-phenomenon—Johnny Weissmuller—who seems to have every free-style swimming record up to a mile at his mercy. Doubtless there will be athletes in the future who will eclipse these stars. That's the way of this world. But when, if ever, again will there arrive within the period of three short years, such an array of athletic wonders? Athletically speaking, you're living in a wonderful age.

Weissmuller, who is still in his teens, already has a score of records and he has been at it but six months. They say he practically lives in the water, and resorts to no particular methods of training for a race. Once after a long swim he went out and broke a world's record. He frequently gets away from a steady well done, before "taking off" in a big race.

The new aquatic marvel is eighteen, weighs 165, and is 4 feet 11 inch tall. He has uncommonly large hands and feet. However, Weissmuller thinks this has little to do with his watery wizardry. Perfect synchronization of arms and legs during a stroke is the explanation of his wonderful performance.

You'll hear a lot about Johnny Weissmuller this summer. His records are in a fine old splashing—that's a chinch! The super-phenomenon is ceteris—Ruth, Dempsey, Man-O-War, Tilden, Paddock and Weissmuller.

Any more coming?

Redlands Prep Nine to Start Off Tuesday
(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)
REDLANDS, April 16.—Redlands High School baseball team will open the Citrus Belt League season here on Tuesday night with a game with the Chaffey High team. Chaffey is believed to have one of the strongest teams in the league although that team lost its first game of the season to Pomona in a 10 to 0 thrashing.

There will be only one game around in the league this season, Coach Malcolm Smith has warned his men to keep in the pink of condition and not let down of the inter-section committee in action. In all probability Sturtevant will start the game on the mound for Redlands although Brown, the southpaw, may be called into action.

The field at the high school here has been put in the best condition it has ever been in.

Should he attend it is his intention to again present the motion of Los Angeles to stage the 1934 Olympic games in the Los Angeles Coliseum.

The other American representative to the International Olympic Committee is Prof. W. M. Stoen, Princeton, N. J. Mr. Garland replaces Alphonse J. Armour of New York, recently resigned.
